Miracle Corner

Lowell is the superstar of this newsletter because of how much progress he has shown in Ms. Susan's Angel Room. When Lowell first started DLC he wasn't talking very much, and socialized very little with the other children in his class.

Now, Lowell is using more words and loves to talk! His speech has been developing rapidly the last few months and we are so proud of him. He socializes with his friends in class a lot more, and even loves to give hugs to his friends. His favorite song is "Row Row Row your Boat" and he loves to dance and sing in class whenever his teachers play it.

Lowell is such a precious little boy, and we are so glad to have him here at DLC. Let's hear it for Lowell!

Steps for Proper Oral Care for your Child!

The most important time to clean your child's mouth is just before bedtime. While we sleep, saliva flow slows down and the mouth provides less protection against cavities than it does during the day.

First, let your child brush his or her own teeth and enjoy this experience. Don't worry about how well he or she does it. Then, brush your child's teeth a second time.

Have your child kneel or sit in front of you and tilt his or her head back in your lap. Gently pull one cheek aside with your finger so you can see the outside surface of the upper back teeth.

Remember that how well you brush your child's teeth is just as important as how long you brush. Once you are comfortable with a set brushing pattern, you will be able to do it quickly, even if your child is not in the mood or being fussy. Follow these five steps:

1. Upper/outer: Place the toothbrush against the outside surface of the very back tooth on one upper side. Angle the toothbrush up toward the gums. Gently brush the area where the gums and tooth meet. Brush each tooth as you move the brush around the outside of all the upper teeth to the last tooth on the other side.
2. Lower/outer: Move to the last back tooth on one side on the bottom. Brush the outside of each tooth as you move around to the other side.
3. Lower/inner: Move to the inside (tongue side) of the lower teeth and brush each tooth as you move around from one side to the other.
4. Upper/inner: Move the brush to the inside of the upper teeth and move from one side to the other as you brush.
